

Dear Parent,

“We structure our camps deliberately with regards to grade level, but we are willing to let you make the decision of what camp to place your child in. However, there are a few things we want to make sure you are aware of:

1. Each program is customized and geared specifically towards the grade level assigned to the session.
2. However, there are some children who want to come with a cousin or sibling who is older; other children may have missed a cut-off date to start a grade a certain year; children mature at different rates; there are many things that may be factors and we don't know each child personally.
3. Because we don't know every child personally, we have to use grade levels - a general standard for the sociability level of children - to mark the standard for our programs.

You know your child better than we do, of course, so the decision is ultimately yours. However, we cannot guarantee the program for grades other than the ones assigned to the session. If you think that your child will be able to adjust to the session and you want to make the decision to put them in a program for a grade level other than the one they are in, we would love to have them. We just want to make sure that we had this conversation to dialogue about it and make sure you understand all the factors involved.”
